

URGES TAKING A LESSON FROM THE LIFE OF LINCOLN

Livengood Warns That American Way of Life May Yet Be Lost

UNSELFISH SPIRIT

Leaders Must Lay Aside Personal Ambition, Close Ears To Bickering

KINGSTON, Tenn., Feb. 13.—Speaking at a Lincoln Day dinner here last night, William S. Livengood, Jr., Secretary of Internal Affairs for Pennsylvania, warned that unless national leadership takes a lesson from the wise and unselfish statesmanship of Abraham Lincoln the American way of life may yet be lost to the world.

"Lincoln laid aside every personal ambition and closed his ears to the clamor of partisan bickering and to the demands of militant minorities, and devoted his every thought and every energy to the preservation of the Republic," said Mr. Livengood.

"Our leaders of today must do likewise if our form of government is to survive. Without hesitation they must reject the grasping pettiness of political ambitions, the unreasonable demands of pressure groups, and give consideration only to the solvency of our nation and to strengthening pillars of government undermined by a costly war, gross extravagances, and practices either purposely or ignorantly designed to destroy the American way of life.

"How often in Lincoln's dark days the lonely, desperately driven man in the White House must have thought of the warning implied by Benjamin Franklin in his definition of the American form of government as — 'A Republic, if we can keep it'."

"In sharp contrast to truckling statesmen of our time, while Lincoln listened to all the noisy throng, he yielded to none.

"We need to recall in our present crisis that Lincoln never forgot when he became President he took an oath to support the Constitution — not to ignore nor sidestep it for political expediency or in pursuit of alien governmental theories. He never forgot that he had promised to be the President of all the people.

509 WHO HAD CHEST X-RAYS FREE OF TB

"Clean Bill of Health" Given Bristol Pupils Who Had Such Tests

OTHER EXAMINATIONS

A "clean bill of health" has been given the pupils of Bristol public schools who took advantage of the chest X-rays here last September. In the drive put on by Bucks County Tuberculosis Society in connection with schools, industries, etc., the 509 X-rayed at the Bristol public schools, including pupils and a few other residents, were found to be free of the disease.

Three of this number, who were found to be questionable, were re-X-rayed and termed "negative."

To date 695 pupils have been given dental examinations, the school nurse, Mrs. J. Tettemer, reports, with 492 found to have defects such as decayed teeth and malformations.

A group of 436 has been given physical examinations to date. These include diseased tonsils, poor nutrition, visual or ear defects, flat feet, poor posture, heart and abdominal defects.

Eight pupils were recommended for glasses through courtesy of Bristol Exchange Club.

UNITED STATES NEEDS RETURN TO FAITH AND PRINCIPLES OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN IN PRESENT PERIOD OF CRISIS, SENATOR MARTIN ADVISES

Reminds Republican Executive Committee of Cabell Co., W. Va., That Republican Party, the "Party of Lincoln," Is Fighting For Return to Such a Program

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Feb. 13.—What the United States most needs in this period of crisis is a return to the faith and principles of Abraham Lincoln—self-reliance, thrift, courage, humility and love of God, Major General Edward Martin, U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania, said here last night in a Lincoln Birthday Address before the Republican Executive Committee of Cabell County.

The Republican Party—"the Party of Lincoln"—is fighting for a return to such a program, from its vantage point of control of both houses of Congress, the speaker declared.

Major General Martin's address follows in part:

"The life of Abraham Lincoln, the hardships endured by his family in traveling from state to state, his early struggle for an education, his defeat in political battles and his financial difficulties, cannot be retold too often. They exemplify the spirit and the courage of the American way of life.

"His bold challenge of the Democratic bureaucracy of the 1850's is especially significant for us who are his spiritual descendants.

"Lincoln, born in humble circumstances, gained eminence but never lost his quiet humility. His life was one of toil, thrift, perseverance, loyalty, and love of God. He truly believed in the American freedom—freedom of speech, of religion, of education and of action. He practiced tolerance and good will and considered it cowardly to incite class hatreds, religious or racial prejudice and sectional discord.

"He believed that the will of the majority, when lawfully expressed, should rule. In his wisdom he could see that the splintering of our people into many political factions could destroy the Republic by destroying responsibility. This wisdom has been proven in the parliamentary arenas of several European countries, where shrill, jabbering, irresponsible minority blocs bled their nations into impotence before communist and fascist advances. Lincoln knew that two strong, militant parties were adequate to serve our nation.

"Lincoln was a strong party man and believed in party regularity. Today party regularity is on the way to new heights. Why—even the new Congressional reorganization law of 1946—the so-called streamline bill to modernize Congress—created Democratic and Republican policy committees to be the custodians of party regularity and party responsibility. And may I point out that progressive men drafted that law."

FALLSINGTON GIVES TEACHERS INCREASE

Grant Extra $100 "Cost-of-Living" in Addition To $150 Previously Granted

PAID IN INSTALLMENTS

FALLSINGTON, Feb. 13.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Falls Township School Board held on Tuesday, February 11th, it was decided to grant an additional $100 to the "cost-of-living" increase of $150 granted for the 1946-47 term, making a total increase of $250 for each teacher.

Of this amount $75 was paid last December, just before Christmas, and $50 more will be paid along with the first regular salary check in March, leaving $125 to be paid to each teacher who completes the year.

The School Board announced that it "felt that in view of existing living costs and pay adjustments elsewhere, it was necessary to make an additional cost of living allowance at this time in order to retain an efficient teaching staff."

It is planned to set salaries for next year at a later meeting, near the time when the annual budget will be prepared, and when it is learned what action the present Legislature will take in regard to State reimbursement.

Washington.—The White House officially announced today that President Truman will not withdraw the nomination of David E. Lilienthal to be Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. With opposition to Lilienthal increasing in the Senate, the White House announcement shapes up for a fight with the Senate over the controversial appointment. It became known that battle lines were being drawn when Lilienthal went to the White House last night for a long conference with Clark Gifford, Mr. Truman's legal counselor.

KNOW YOUR STATE

During the last few years shipbuilding has been one of Pennsylvania's major industries. At the height of the war effort in 1943, it was fourth in employment with a labor force of more than 73,000, third in compensation paid to workers, and fourth in the value of its products. In 1944 shipbuilding had risen to third place in the value of output with a total production valued at $591,000,000.

The contribution Pennsylvania shipyards were able to make to the national defense was based on a steady progress in the building of vessels extending back nearly three hundred years. The first ship constructed in our shipyards was launched in 1647 at Tinicum on the Delaware River below Philadelphia. In 1792 Pittsburgh built the "Western Experiment" which sailed down the Ohio and Mississippi to the Gulf of Mexico—the first sailing vessel ever to make that voyage. In 1797 the first large American battleship, the "United States," was launched in Philadelphia.

The steamboat was the invention of two Pennsylvania silversmiths, John Fitch and Robert Fulton. It was on the Delaware that the first steam-propelled vessel was put into operation by Fitch in 1787 and the first steamboat launched on western waters was a side-wheeler, the "New Orleans," built in Pittsburgh in 1811.

The building of iron and steel ships began with an iron steamboat built at York, Pennsylvania, in 1826, and in the west with an iron steamship built in Pittsburgh in 1839.

The second iron battleship ever built in the world and the first in the United States was launched at Erie in 1843. This ship, now named "Wolverine," is still on exhibition at the Presque Isle State Park. The shipyards in Chester, Pennsylvania, now among the largest in the world, were pioneers in the commercial building of iron ships. Shortly after the Civil War, the first American fleet in the transatlantic trade was operated from Philadelphia to Liverpool. From that time on, the steady development of shipbuilding along the Delaware, where the League Island government shipyards add to the output of private firms, has given that river the nickname of "The American Clyde."

During the War, Philadelphia, Erie and Pittsburgh shipyards produced hundreds of vessels of all types for the United States Navy.

Carnes Home Is Scene of Delightful Social Event

EDGELY, Feb. 13—Mr. and Mrs. William Carnes entertained a number of friends on Saturday evening at their home, honoring Mrs. Carnes on her birthday anniversary. The evening was enjoyed in a social way and refreshments served. Guests included: Mr. and Mrs. John Carnes, Tyrone; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Boardman and daughter, race; and Miss Ann DiLorenzo, Carby; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wilkey, Philadelphia; "Doty" Linck, "Bob" Miller, Stanley Worthington, Francis and Ryle Carnes, Edgely.

It's Hearty Yet Quick-and-Easy

It's natural to splurge on some meals (especially when there's company!) and make up for it with an occasional family meal that's more on the economical side. What's more, there are times when mother gets home late or is extra busy, and the dinner has to be quick-and-easy. This frankfurter and spaghetti dish will "fill the bill" in both emergencies. It is definitely a budget dish, first of all. It's quick, because the tasty frankfurters, being already cooked, need only to be browned and heated thoroughly; and spaghetti is a hurry-up standby. Last, but not of least importance, the use of spices gives the dish a mysteriously "different" flavor that lifts it into the inspired class.

Frankfurter Spaghetti
1½ pounds frankfurters
1/3 cup diced onion
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups tomato juice
3 cups cooked spaghetti.
Slice half the frankfurters in ½-inch pieces. Brown sliced frankfurters and onion in lard or drippings. Add seasonings, tomato juice and cooked spaghetti. Simmer until thickened. Brown the remaining whole frankfurters. Serve around spaghetti mixture. Serves 6 to 8.

Expert Arranging an Art—Here's How

JUST as the whole art of music is based on a handful of notes called the scale, the art of flower arrangement is based upon a few fundamental designs. These sound like fugitives from a geometry book, since the basic types are triangular, circular, radiating, vertical, horizontal or rhythmic. As simple as "do re mi", with practice you can make your own floral symphonies. Your neighborhood florist will be glad to help, and suggest suitable ideas. Study the beautiful example shown here by Alyn Wayne, official stylist of Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association. Since horizontal lines and masses predominate, this is a horizontal arrangement. The secret of the whole thing is keeping it simple and "easy to look at".

A Meal That's Just Right For Winter Appetites

Here is an ideal dish to serve the crowd, when they get together for supper after an afternoon of outdoor fun. Its hearty enough to satisfy the sharpest appetites, and has a zestful savoriness that will make it an often-repeated favorite.

This is really a one-dish meal, for it includes meat, noodles and vegetables. A variety of seasonings such as pimento, onion and cheese give the dish an unusual abundance of flavor.

To make the hostess's job doubly easy, the casserole may be prepared in advance and reheated, if desired. A generous salad bowl filled with crisp greens and other raw vegetables, and some kind of hot bread or rolls, will complete the easy-to-serve main course. The dessert might well be a bowl of fresh fruit, cookies or slices of fruit cake.

and nuts-in-the-shell. Plenty of hot coffee is a "must," of course!

Pork and Veal Casserole
1 pound veal
1 pound pork
3 tablespoons lard
1 pound fresh mushrooms
½ pound noodles
1 small can pimento
2 tablespoons grated onion
½ pound American cheese
1 No. 2 can cream style corn
1 can condensed chicken soup
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ cup buttered crumbs

Cut meat in small cubes. Brown in 2 tablespoons lard. Slice mushrooms, brown in remaining lard. Cook noodles in boiling salted water; drain and rinse. Chop pimento. Grate onion and cheese. Combine all of these ingredients with corn and soup. Add seasonings, pour into casserole and sprinkle with crumbs. Cover. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1 hour. Remove cover last 15 minutes. Serves 10 to 12.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Edward G. Yeomans

O Lord our God, teach us how to pray that as we pray may we know we are indeed speaking to one who hears and answers prayer. Forgive us for the many times when we have forgotten Thee or turned aside from Thee to seek out our own way. Become unto us the Way, bringing us into the presence of our Heavenly Father, be to us the Truth, revealing to us our Heavenly Father that we might come to know Him and to believe on Him, be to us the Life, bringing us into the fullness of the abundant life as we call upon Thee in faith. This we ask in Thy Name. Amen.

SECOND PLACE RACE THROWN INTO SCRAMBLE

Hibernians Hand Stinging
Defeat to Fifth Ward
Sporting Club

FINAL SCORE IS 38 TO 29

Long Shots Brought Victory
To Hibernian
Five

The race for second place in the Bristol Basketball League was thrown into a scramble last night as the Hibernians handed a stinging defeat to the Fifth Ward Sporting Club on the Rohm and Haas floor. Final score stood: Hibernians, 38; Fifth Ward, 29.

As the result of the Fifth Ward defeat, three clubs, Hibernians, Fifth Ward, and Rohm and Haas are deadlocked for second position. Profy's is leading the circuit.

Long shots produced the Hibernians' triumph. Three of these were made from near the half-way mark of the floor by "Jobbey" Dugan. It was these shots that really upset the Warders when they were beginning to click.

Midway in the second quarter, the Hibs had a 19-7 lead but the Warders came up fast and at half-time were trailing, 19-15. But in the third quarter, the Hibernians' defense tightened and Fifth Ward did not score a point. Four minutes of the final quarter was played before the Warders tallied a field goal.

High man for the winners was "Johnny" Rodgers who cut the nets for six field goals and a foul. Quigley was one point behind Rodgers with 12 points.

Joe Plebani had eight points to lead the losing team in scoring but the Warders fared very poorly from the foul mark as they made but 7 out of 21 shots.

CHEMICAL WORKERS TIE FOR SECOND PLACE

The Rohm and Haas team went into a triple deadlock for second place in the Bristol Basketball League with an easy 37-29 win over the Badenhausen quintet last night on the chemical mixers' floor.

Outstanding in the Rohm and Haas triumph were "Angie" Everett and "Seddie" Caro who scored 12 and 8 points, respectively. For the losing quintet, Plebani had nine points.

The usual high-scoring "Benny" Samsel, of the boiler-makers, could not get the lid off the baskets as he made but one field goal during the entire night.

PASSANANTE FIVE DEFEATS K. OF C. TEAM

Winning its third straight game, the Passanante team climbed from the cellar of the Bristol Basketball League last night. On the Rohm and Haas court the grocerymen nosed out the Knights of Columbus five, 33-32, in one of the most thrilling tilts of the season.

The Knights had plenty of chances to beat the ultimate winners. Within the last two minutes they were given seven foul shots and only one of these was converted. In addition to this, Ferry and Campion both missed set-ups which would have given the Radcliffe street organization the victory. Campion's shot hit the rim on the inside and for some unknown reason bounced out again. Ferry's shot rolled around the rim and then dropped on the outside.

"Vince" Profy, guard on the losing team, played the best defensive game of the season as he held the league-leading scorer, "Bill" Petrick, scoreless from the field. Petrick made a foul shot and during the night only had eight shots at the baskets.

"Ted" DeVries was high for the winners with 16 points but the winning goal was made by Bob Anderson and at the time it put Passanante ahead, 33-29. But Profy scored a field goal and Campion added a foul to put the Knights one point behind.

HARRIMAN NEEDS WIN IN TONIGHT'S GAME

The Harriman team must win tonight to get back into a deadlock with Fifth Ward for first place in the Bristol Youth League. The Sixth Warders meet the Legion Cadets in the night-cap. In the first tilt, the Third Ward Eagles clash with the Keystone Oil team while the preliminary game sees the Cadet Juniors against the St. Francis Vocational School, of Eddington. The latter game begins at 6:45 o'clock.

The Harriman team is one-half game behind Fifth Ward which has won ten straight contests. The Eagles are in third place but will have to travel fast to beat the Keystone team which surprised the fans by its showing against Harriman last week.

STRESSES IMPORTANCE OF A GOOD BREAKFAST

Ann Hawkes Hutton Suggests Hearty Meal For Fine Day's Start

"BRING OUT BACON"

In an article titled "Why Bother With Breakfast?", appearing in a recent issue of "Today's Woman," Ann Hawkes Hutton, of Edgely, considers the importance of the meal which breaks the fast of the night. The article is herewith reproduced:

Does your housework suddenly go haywire around eleven o'clock in the morning? You can't get anything done and then you chip your best vase and cut your finger.

Don't worry. Chances are you're not a hopeless housekeeper—just a hungry one.

Statistics show that only one person in three eats an adequate breakfast—that's why in mid-morning the housewife wilts, the career girl crumples and the industrial worker loses a finger.

There's a relationship between appetite and accidents. In an analysis of 1,009 consecutive accidents at an ordinance depot the highest number, 99, occurred between eleven and twelve o'clock.

You've been hearing about the importance of better breakfasts for years. But do you know why you need them and what they do?

You need a good breakfast because a light one, say orange juice and coffee, simply doesn't give you enough fuel for your day's work. Fruit juice contains vitamin C which is important to the strength of your tissues. Coffee is an eye-opener that will clear your mind temporarily. But even add toast and jam and you still have a bad breakfast in the opinion of Dr. Russell M. Wilder of the Mayo Clinic. The sugar from such a light meal is used up very quickly. Then comes a drop in blood sugar and that tired, weak feeling.

Of course, if you're going to spend the day quietly at home doing desk work or darning, you can get by with a comparatively light breakfast. But if today is washday, girls, bring out the bacon! If ironing always "takes the starch out of" you, see that you get plenty in your breakfast! If your husband has a big deal coming up today, build up his bargaining power with cereal and ham and eggs.

Your great-grandmother understood this nutritional principle although she knew little about calories. Her kind of breakfast, with its rich cream for the cereal, fried potatoes, ham with milk gravy, and even pie, has recently won new medical approval as an effective "cholagogue."

This means that its abundance of fats makes the gallbladder contract. Even the smell of frying bacon can contract the normal gallbladder in half an hour! And this contraction and emptying of bile is important because the gallbladder has grown full and sluggish during the night's fasting. Its morning exercise helps to keep it healthy and free from gallstones.

This new enthusiasm for the old-fashioned breakfast doesn't mean that you should suddenly go in for a farmers' meal. But you should follow the old-fashioned idea of "three squares a day."

Your breakfast should give you from one-fourth to one-third of the calories you need daily and your need varies with the type of work you do. The National Research Council recommends for the moderately active, 2,500 daily for women and 3,000 for men. This means from 600 to 1,000 calories for breakfast, built around the basic foods: fruit, cereal, milk, eggs, bread, butter and a beverage.

These foods meet a variety of body needs. Several of them are body builders (protein) as well as energy builders (fat and carbohydrate). The orange juice, cereal, bread and sugar are the carbohydrates which give you quick energy. The milk, butter, bacon and eggs are the fats which are more slowly digested and keep you going later.

If you're trying to reduce, remember that your breakfast should still contain about one-third of your daily calories. Too often, after a too-light breakfast and lunch the dieter ends up in such a glow of self-satisfaction that she indulges in an oversized wedge of pie after a hearty dinner. This unequal distribution of food means not only less energy but more "tummy!"

Most reducing diets call for at least 1,000 calories daily—about 330 calories for breakfast. You can drink a small glass of orange juice, eat an ounce of cereal with one-half cup of skim milk and a scant teaspoonful of sugar, an egg, and still be within the 330 calories of your reducing diet breakfast! What's more, you're getting the proportions of protein, carbohydrate and fat that you need.

A nation-wide survey made for the Cereal Institute shows that less than one per cent of housewives spend any thought whatsoever in planning the breakfast menu. Yet it's up to you to make breakfast so interesting that it won't be merely an unhappy interval between the alarm and the time clock.

If your husband anticipates a breakfast that will be an eye-opening, mouthwatering affair, he'll get up earlier. As for burying himself in the morning newspaper, the paper isn't printed that can compete with blueberry muffins!

PENNSYLVANIA FARM ROUNDUP

By Suzanne Fitch

(I. N. S. Penna. Farm Editor) — A HARRISBURG, Feb. 13. — (INS) — A banner year for Pennsylvania's county fairs during 1947 was predicted today.

Charles W. Swower, of Reading, secretary of the State Association of County Fairs, appeared confident fairs would net more than the $748,668 reaped during the 1946 season which was the largest in fair history in the state. The 1946 "take" was $212,533, he added.

"There is every reason to believe another new high will be reached this year," he said. "Worthwhile grandstand attractions and outstanding agricultural exhibits will do much to achieve this end."

Gross receipts amounted to $1,533,705 last summer in contrast with $1,459,757 grossed the preceding season, Swower reported. The total intake during the pre-war years of 1929 and 1940 averaged $545,000 despite record attendance of approximately 3,000,000.

Total expenditures last year were $969,387, Swower said. Last year's admissions were estimated at 2,529,805. Fifty-five of the fairs operated at a profit while 29 suffered some loss, Swower said. Most deficits were experienced by community exhibitions.

Premiums paid totaled $129,343, the highest figure since 1941. The drop from pre-war years was due to decreases in state subsidies and loss of prize money due to the ban on poultry exhibits, Swower explained. The commonwealth's contributions of $18,164 were the highest since 1943. The record sum was $128,589 paid during 1933.

The Central Fair Circuit reported harness racing would be held at 11 fairs in the state next summer.

The preliminary circuit schedule included: Harrington, Del., and Clearfield, July 29; Bedford, August 4-5; Froehold, N. J., August 11-13; Flemington, N. J., August 25; Indiana, August 26; Ford City and Port Royal, September 1; Reading, September 8; Allentown, September 16; Bloomsburg and Trenton, N. J., September 23-25; Frederick, Md., September 30-October 3.

An increased demand for quality poultry and eggs in metropolitan sections has been pointed out by Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst. The order boosts were attributed to "insufficient local supplies to meet demands."

"Consumers prefer nearly quality products but dealers depend largely upon shipments from commercial meat producing areas in other states," Horst said.

Egg production business gained in value from $55,000,000 to more than $160,000,000 during the past 25 years and rated second only to Pennsylvania's $200,000,000 dairy industry, Horst explained.

Poultrymen reported a record output of two and three quarter billion eggs during 1946, he said. The state ranked seventh in production. Pennsylvania farmers rated fifth in fowl production but second in the quality of chickens raised in the country, Horst reported. More than 47 million chickens valued at $56,000,000 populated farms.

Livestock feed prices remained high and may continue climbing according to state crop experts. "Prices of feed grains and by-product feeds are expected to continue generally higher through winter and spring than a year ago," a spokesman said. "Corn prices are now relatively low in comparison with prices of most other feeds."

No declines were noted except for some by-products which dropped from $19 to $20 a ton during November and December, he added.

The potato has assumed new importance as a possible source of sugar, according to the Pennsylvania production and marketing administration, a branch of the U. S. Agriculture Department. Scientists were experimenting with enzymes to turn the potato starch into hard-to-get sugar, the PMA reported.

BONHAM, Tex. (INS) — A broken leg won't break the 42-year record of perfect Sunday school attendance of Earl Nunn of Bonham, Texas. The class has agreed to meet in Nunn's hospital room until he recuperates from the fracture, received in a fall during a recent icy spell.

SPORTSMEN OF PENNA. AIDING CONSERVATION

Program Reaches Back Into Small Creeks of State's Wooded Areas

DAMS CONSTRUCTED

The prevention of flood hazards and the protection of the important resources of wild life in the State's waters and along the banks of its streams all begin at the headwaters. The thousands of small feeding brooks that finally flow together to form our far-reaching river systems are the true source of Pennsylvania's water supply.

Many of the State's leading sportsmen's clubs have realized that fact, and have organized a program of water and wild life conservation which reaches back into the small creeks and rivulets of the State's wooded areas. Many sportsmen are devoting much of their spare time to this off-season program.

Fast-growing trees—birch, willow, and ash—are being planted along the banks of feeder streams in an effort to create a web of roots that will retard the rush of spring floods and hold the soil against erosion. Small dams are being constructed creating pools in which vegetable and animal life may once more flourish. Deflectors of rocks and logs are being constructed to retard the run-off of water after heavy rainfalls.

Streams thus improved will be brought to the attention of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission to the end that fine game and food fish will once more be planted in these headwaters, thus increasing the State's fishing area and removing the load from public fishing waters further down stream.

Such efforts of private agencies reflect the confidence now being felt throughout the State that the great task of improving our natural resources is at last seriously underway, and the knowledge that every citizen must do his part to assist State and local governments, if that program is to be fully effective.

RESIGNS AFTER MANY YEARS OF SERVICE

Dr. Adolf Berg Served With
Doylestown Twp. Directors Group 17 Years

HEALTH IS IMPAIRED

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 13 — After serving 17 years as a member of the Doylestown township board of school directors, Dr. Adolf Berg, of Pebble Hill Road, has resigned.

Dr. Berg, who was appointed in 1930, has served as the secretary of the school board since 1937. He expects to leave for Florida for his health. He recently sold his Pebble Hill home.

To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Berg, Mrs. Edna W. Schuyler, of Edison, was named.

The other vacancy on the board has not as yet been filled.

Doylestown Township School Board members now include: Mrs. Sarah Brinker, president; Mrs. Edna W. Schuyler, secretary; Frank H. Trembly, Jr., treasurer, and Crosby Sellich, vice-president.

Mrs. Schuyler, who was appointed to serve in Dr. Berg's place, will fill his unexpired term which is until 1949.

Although the school directors expressed a desire to honor Dr. Berg at some sort of testimonial dinner or event in recognition of his services as a director for nearly two decades, Dr. Berg maintained that his health would not permit it.

ELKS WRECKS LOSE AND PAY THE BILL

In a ribald, cheering, jeering bowling match, Saturday evening, the Bristol Elks Wrecks were defeated by the Bristol Elks Bowling team of the Southeast District of Pennsylvania League.

The match was fast and interesting to watch with the winners being fated to one of Ray Kline's famous seafood platters, the losers paying the bill and playing waiters for the winners serving them at the table.

The singing act as put on by "Killer" Boyd and "Pecker" Head" Fähringer was terrific. "Bill" Wicher was high for the Elks with a total of 610 pins, while Herb Yates was high with a total of 563 pins for the "Wrecks."
